August 2017

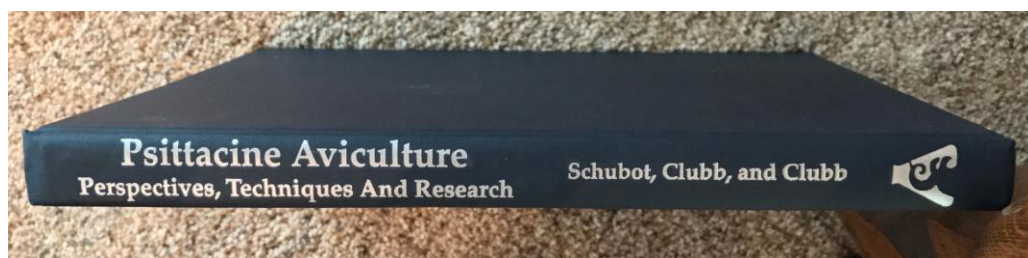

Below are pictures of a few of the many raffle and silent auction items. Last month we posted others so check out last month's newsletter on our website for those pictures.

The middle photo below is a beautiful necklace of an African Grey donated by Dawn Lucero who creates handmade avian art jewelry (birdjewelry.com or www.facebook.com/Birdjewelry).

The two beautiful parrot prints of Blue and Gold Macaws and Green-Winged Macaws are by artist, Gamini Ratnavira, a respected wildlife artist.

Also pictured are some roller skates for your parrot from Fun Max, a beautiful porcelain cockatoo statue, Easy Sprout which will make it easier to sprout seeds, and a book written by well known avian veterinarians.

Don't forget to attend the speaker seminars. Subject of speeches and times are listed on the second page above. Dr. Kersting always keeps us informed on the latest news in the avian medical world. Jeff Meshach will talk about Cooper's Hawks, and Lisa Rose will teach us how to clicker train our parrots.

Stop in and say hi to Christopher, Adeline, and Abbie on the second floor "Meet the Parrots" area. They will have many species of parrots on display and will tell you about each one.

Fair attendees may not bring their personal birds into the fair unless they are participating in a special exhibit.
